Your teenaged students are now on social media for an average of 9 hours a day. During all of that time they are exposed to dangers that they are not prepared to confront, including: cyberbullying, sexual harassment, hate speech, violence, social media addiction and human trafficking.

The Organization for Social Media Safety works every day to protect against these and other social media related dangers. In this presentation, you will learn more about them and how to better prepare your students to best avoid and/or respond to these threats.
