

Presented by, Stanley C. Mantooth, Ventura County Superintendent of Schools
Coordinated by Dawn Anderson, Director of Comprehensive Health and Prevention Programs.

RESTORATIVE JUSTICE

A FREE WEBINAR

October 30, 2020 | 10am - 11:30am

Register here: <https://bit.ly/3mMsOeQ>

Restorative practices focus on repairing the harm caused, engaging victims and relevant school community members in the decision-making process, and preventing similar actions in the future. RJ programs can be implemented in a variety of ways to meet the social, emotional, and mental health needs of Latinx students. This training will:

- Discuss RJ as a culturally responsive approach to address the social, emotional, and mental health needs of Latinx students during the COVID-19 pandemic.
- Address the implication of violence exposure among Latinx students and risk factors for mental health.
- Discuss restorative justice Tier 1, Tier 2, and Tier 3 activities that can be implemented in the school setting.

Who should attend? Mental health providers, teachers, school administrators, and school staff.

Dr. J Rocky Romero is the CEO and owner of JR Romero & Associates, a training and consultant company he started almost 20 years ago. He served as the co-chair for Governor Richardson's appointed NM Higher Education Department on Cultural Competency Task-Force. He is focused on culturally appropriate treatment while focusing on reducing health disparities for people of color.

For more information contact Daisey Lopez Valadez at dlopezvaladez@vcoe.org or (805)437-1390